

This list documents all case numbers of all Sexual Assault Kits in Department Property for the sexual assault kit processing project (up to July 2015).

The Case number is read with “DD” indicating the Everett Police Department. The next two digits indicate the year of the case. DD98” means an Everett Police Department case from 1998. It is also commonly read or listed as “DD1998.” The numbers following the agency and year designator are for the case number.

The Batch Indicator indicates which batch the kit was sent in for project testing. It may also read with “FBI Submission” if the kit was sent to the FBI for processing, or “Not Sent Already Tested” if the kit was originally listed as an untested kit but found to have actually been tested prior to the project. Other notes in “Batch Indicator” may reference errors, lost reports, or lost kits as explained below.

All kits have been tested for DNA for CODIS entry except:

- The project identified 2 cases that were included in the project list in error. Case 2005-12138 was listed as a sexual assault kit, but it was actually a DUI blood draw. Case 2013-24465 was turned into the Everett Police Department by Providence Sexual Assault Center, but it was actually a kit from another agency. That kit was turned over to the correct agency.
- The project identified 1 case from 2003 that was listed in property and the report was available, but the actual kit has not been located in property (DD2003-21273).
- The project identified 1 case where the suspect had previously been convicted and the kit was destroyed following conviction (DD2009-7387).
- The project identified 3 cases where the reports could not be located so the kits could not be submitted for testing (DD2005-24958, DD2007-633, and DD2009-18583).

All DNA results have been received by the Everett Police Department and all CODIS entries, where possible, have been completed, except for case DD2013-8389 and case DD2013-9055. Those two kits have been tested but are still with Washington State Patrol for CODIS review and entry and will be returned to the Everett Police Department once entry is completed.
